Cellar Happenings

Mitch Cosentino has been hard at work in the cellar perfecting blends and closely monitoring the final fermentations of this year's releases. He has recently put the finishing touches on the 2008 Poet and excited for you to taste it! It is very important to maintain these key vineyard lots to continue to craft this classic Cosentino blend.

Mitch is also eagerly anticipating the release of this year's Chardonnay and Cabernet Franc; still true to Cosentino's signature style, he has been having fun experimenting with various barrel selections to add complexity and depth that complements the subtle spice and character of these wines.

Slow Cooked Coffee-Braised Leg of Lamb

Makes: 8 servings

Time: 5 hours

Ingredients:

- 6 garlic cloves
- 1 bone-in leg of lamb (7lbs), fat trimmed
- Salt & freshly ground black pepper
- 1 large onion, quartered
- 2 shallots, peeled
- 1 ripe tomato, cored and quartered
- 1/4 cup olive oil
- 1 cup dry red wine
- 3 cups freshly brewed strong coffee, divided
- 1/4 cup flat-leaf parsley

Preparation:

Preheat oven to 400°. Mince 2 cloves of garlic and rub evenly over lamb. Sprinkle salt and pepper generously over entire lamb leg. Place lamb on a V-shaped rack in a large roasting pan. Surround rack with carrots, onion, shallots, tomato, and remaining 4 garlic cloves. Drizzle oil over vegetables and lamb. Roast 30 minutes.

Reduce oven temperature to 250°. Transfer lamb to a plate and remove rack from roasting pan. Set pan on a burner over high heat; add wine and boil, using a metal spatula to stir and scrape caramelized vegetables from the bottom of the pan, until liquid reduces by half. Stir in 2 cups coffee. Remove from heat. Set lamb back in pan spoon juices over it. Cover tightly with foil.

Return pan to oven and cook until tender and pulling away from the bone, about 5 hours, turning halfway through cooking.

Transfer lamb onto a platter and cover with foil. Reheat remaining 1 cup coffee. Pour liquid and vegetables from pan into a blender and pulse until smooth. Pour sauce through fine-mesh strainer set over a bowl, using a ladle to push it through if needed. Season sauce with salt and pepper. Pour half on lamb and serve the rest in a bowl. Garnish lamb with parsley.

We recommend serving this on top of creamy mashed potatoes and paired with our 2008 Napa County Cabernet Sauvignon.
